

Effective Learning Behaviours

A blended modular programme supporting teachers and school leaders to understand and support students' cognitive, social and emotional learning behaviours.

A learning behaviour is any behaviour that supports learning, such as paying attention or persevering with a tricky task. It is the countless little things done well that characterise 'good' behaviour and effective learning. Too often, behaviour is narrowly conceived as how to manage misbehaviour. The very notion of 'learning behaviours' reflects the more complex reality of how behaviour manifests itself and what we can do about it.

Participants will:

- Dive deep into the best evidence available around learning behaviours
- Explore their school culture and practices
- Explore real life case studies, supporting tools and share practical advice and good practice
- Be provided with guidance on effective implementation and opportunities to plan for positive and sustained change

Programme structure and cost:

- 2 full days face to face at Charles Dickens Primary School
- 1 live twilight webinars, 3 self-directed online modules
- £350 per person, 20% discount for London South members
