

THE BIG QUESTION SERIES

BRADFORD RESEARCH SCHOOL WEBINAR SERIES

Teaching involves making hundreds of decisions every day. Many of those decisions are shaped by bigger questions about how pupils learn, what motivates them and how schools can help them succeed. Each webinar in The Big Question Series starts with one of those questions and explores what the evidence can tell us about it. Along the way, we will examine different perspectives, consider the implications for practice and reflect on what this might mean for our own classrooms.

Join Mark Miller, Director of Bradford Research School, for these free webinars. 4-5:15 on Teams.

Why don't students respond to feedback?

Understanding the factors that shape pupils' responses to feedback.
Wednesday 7 October

Who gets to think in our classrooms?

Participation, engagement and the distribution of classroom thinking.
Tuesday 15 December

Why do students forget what they once understood?

What memory research can tell us about durable learning.
Wednesday 13 January

What happens when learning leaves the classroom?

The role of independent learning beyond lessons and school.
Monday 22 March

How do young people become readers?

Creating the conditions for reading to become a habit.
Wednesday 28 April

How do we make classrooms joyful?

Building classrooms where pupils belong, succeed and thrive.
Thursday 15 July

