

Developing Metacognitive Talk in the Classroom

FREE webinar

Thursday 11th June 2026
3.45 - 4.45pm

Delivered by Jen Ogden
Deputy Director,
Town End Research School

How often do pupils think about how they are learning – not just what they are learning?

Join Town End Research School to explore how purposeful classroom talk can develop metacognition, helping pupils reflect on, regulate and direct their own learning.

The session focuses on practical strategies that encourage pupils to articulate their thinking, respond to others' ideas and build confidence in managing their progress.

Participants will gain clear, actionable approaches to strengthen reflection, deepen understanding, and make learning more visible and effective in everyday classroom practice.
